

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki

A Global Emerging Markets Fund

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki is a value-based emerging markets equity fund. It seeks to generate long-term capital growth through an actively managed, high conviction portfolio of companies which are listed in, or have significant exposure to, developing markets. The fund is managed by Fredrik Bjelland and Espen Klette.

Investment Strategy

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki invests on the basis that the developing world will be the main driver of global economic growth for years to come. The portfolio managers view emerging markets as an increasingly dynamic and highly diversified investment universe, albeit with inherent inefficiencies. These characteristics are supportive for SKAGEN’s active approach as – even more than for developed markets – careful stock picking is a key determinant of investment success.

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki’s approach is benchmark agnostic which gives the portfolio managers maximum flexibility to invest with conviction in the best emerging market value opportunities and optimise the fund’s risk-adjusted returns. The fund benefits from a broad global mandate and investment decisions are based on company fundamentals, rather than targeting sector or geographic exposure.

A key differentiator versus peers is SKAGEN Kon-Tiki’s ability to invest in developed market-listed stocks, where these companies have exposure to emerging markets. The portfolio managers believe that where a company operates or generates revenue is more important than its country of listing and this flexibility can provide valuation, corporate governance, liquidity and other arbitrage opportunities.

At least half the fund’s assets must be invested in emerging market-listed companies and this proportion has historically been around 70-80 percent, but it may fluctuate significantly over time depending on where the portfolio managers identify the best value opportunities. They spend considerable time understanding the fundamental drivers of a company’s current and future earnings.

The fund’s value focus is reflected in a portfolio which typically trades at a material discount to the index on traditional valuation metrics as well as to intrinsic value. In addition to valuation offering a margin of safety, downside protection is provided by a portfolio diversified by geography, sector and economic sensitivity. While the portfolio is constructed bottom-up, holdings can be grouped within several complementary themes linked to attractive structural emerging market trends, such as growing consumption, access to financial services, technology and sustainability.

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki’s portfolio has historically offered significant exposure to small and mid-cap companies as well as more traditional high-conviction large cap ideas. Portfolio companies typically have solid business models but their potential to create long-term value isn’t reflected in the share price and clear catalysts have been identified for revaluation. The portfolio managers also target companies with management teams who have a proactive attitude towards shareholder returns rather than just accumulating book value.

The portfolio managers have a long-term perspective to value creation and the fund’s average holding period has historically been over three years. They focus on absolute return opportunities and expect new positions to have at least 40% percent upside over a two-year investment horizon.

Investment Philosophy

SKAGEN's investment philosophy is centred on active, value-based fund management; a combination we believe ensures the best results for clients.

SKAGEN portfolio managers aim to outperform the broader stock market, enabled by unconstrained mandates and the freedom to invest with conviction in their best ideas. They are agile when selecting the companies with the greatest potential to create value and how it can be achieved. We also believe that engagement with companies is key to delivering sustainable risk-adjusted returns.

Value

All SKAGEN portfolio managers invest bottom-up by selecting the companies they believe will deliver the most value for clients. Investment decisions are based on detailed analysis and deep knowledge of companies, irrespective of their inclusion or position in an index. We strive to beat the market and create portfolios that diverge from conventional benchmarks to achieve this.

- Unconstrained: Unconstrained mandates give us the freedom to search for the best opportunities from across the globe. They also enable us to create diversified portfolios by geography, sector and investment theme to control risks for clients.
- Conviction: We are high conviction investors who build concentrated portfolios of our best ideas. We act quickly and decisively when price targets are reached, or if an investment case deteriorates, and redeploy capital into more attractive ideas to optimise the funds' returns.

Active

We invest in companies whose assets or earnings potential isn't fully reflected in their share price and take a broad view of value creation. Portfolio managers typically identify businesses with clear catalysts to correct their mispricing and those with an underappreciated ability to compound value over time.

- Agility: We often look beyond traditional metrics to uncover value hidden on company balance sheets or within revaluation triggers. Agile thinking can also lead us to businesses whose intrinsic earnings capacity or growth potential is underestimated by the market.
- Engagement: Releasing value can require engagement and patience to maximise long-term results. We are active owners and engage with our portfolio companies on key business, financial, environmental, social and governance issues, using performance indicators to drive sustainable returns and revaluation over time.

History

SKAGEN was originally founded in Stavanger, Norway in 1993 with the goal of generating long-term growth for clients' assets. From investing solely on behalf of friends and family, SKAGEN grew into a leading Scandinavian fund manager with a broad European footprint.

SKAGEN became part of Storebrand Asset Management (SAM) in 2017 and subsequently merged into SAM in November 2023. As part of the merger, SKAGEN Funds are now owned and administered by SAM which has outsourced their management to a newly established legal entity - named SKAGEN AS - an investment firm that operates as an independent boutique with its own Board.

The portfolio managers have significant co-investment in the SKAGEN Funds. This serves to align interest with clients, and SKAGEN is committed to maintaining its culture of independent thinking and high performance.
