Investment strategy

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki is a value-based emerging markets equity fund. It seeks to generate long-term capital growth through an actively managed, high conviction portfolio of companies which are listed in, or have significant exposure to, developing markets. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Cost information

For explanation of the overall impact of costs on the investment and expected returns please refer to the Key Information Document.

Ongoing cost: 1,50 % (Of which management fee is: 1,50 %)

Performance fee: 10,00 % (see prospectus for details)

Risk profile (SRRI)

We have classified this product as 6 out of 7, which is the second-highest risk class.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets. The second-highest risk class rates the potential losses from future performance at a high level. Other risks materially relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator: Event risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, counterparty risk, derivatives risk and currency risk. If the fund invests in securities in a currency other than the fund's base currency, the value is affected by changes in the exchange rate. In addition, the value of your payout may be affected if your local currency is different from the fund's currency. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

Portfolio manager commentary, January 2026

Global equity markets began 2026 on a positive note, with Industrials and Energy leading a broad-based advance. Emerging Markets outperformed Developed Markets, extending momentum from last year. Within EM, semiconductor stocks in Korea and Taiwan drove returns alongside a rebound in Brazil, while India's underperformance persisted.

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki delivered solid absolute returns and continued to outperform its benchmark. The fund's top contributors were Samsung Electronics, Taiwan Semiconductor (TSMC) and Petrobras. Samsung reported better-than-expected operating results as surging demand for memory and storage in AI data centres pushed DRAM and NAND prices to higher levels. Benefiting from the same AI tailwind, TSMC exceeded expectations and provided a bullish outlook for 2026, guiding for sales growth of nearly 30 percent year-on-year. Petrobras gained on higher oil prices and improved sentiment towards Brazilian equities. The largest detractors were UPL, Hon Hai and Naspers. Indian crop protection company UPL fell despite announcing an IPO of its seed subsidiary Advanta Enterprises, intended to better crystallise the underlying value of the group. Hon Hai declined despite strong December sales and first-quarter guidance broadly in line with expectations, supported by continued ramp-up of AI rack shipments. Naspers weakened as its discount to underlying Tencent exposure widened.

Portfolio activity remained elevated as we actively managed positions to optimise risk and reward. We reduced TSMC to keep it below the UCITS 10% single issuer threshold and trimmed Alibaba, Petrobras and WH Group following strong share price performance. Proceeds and existing cash funded further additions to recent additions JD.com, Allegro, Bank of the Philippine Islands and Life Insurance Corporation of India. We added to Hon Hai on share price weakness, given our conviction in its leading position in AI server rack assembly, and continued building our position in Brazilian cash-and-carry retailer Assaí, where we see attractive upside to our target price.

We initiated two new positions: Banco del Bajío and Lojas Renner. Banco del Bajío is a mid-sized Mexican bank focused on commercial lending with a strong presence in the Bajío region of west-central Mexico. We met management in Mexico in January and find it highly attractive to invest at just 1.1 times book for a bank we believe can comfortably generate high-teens return on equity with a long growth runway. We reinvested in Brazilian fashion retailer Lojas Renner, whose share price once again looks attractive. Management presented new long-term financial targets in late December which, in our view, have yet to be appreciated by the market – the shares still trade below 10 times forward earnings. We exited South Korean cosmetics manufacturer Cosmax after its share price quickly re-rated to our target price.

The portfolio now comprises 48 holdings trading at 8 times earnings and 1.2 times book value – discounts of 36 percent and 49 percent, respectively, to the MSCI Emerging Markets index. We believe this represents an attractive risk-reward profile despite strong twelve-month performance.

Sustainability

SKAGEN's approach to sustainability

Our ESG approach is built on four pillars. In keeping with SKAGEN's active investment philosophy, our sustainability activities centre on active engagement with our holding companies, which is where we believe we can have the greatest impact. We recognise, however, that the full potential of a sustainable investment strategy is best realised when combining the following four pillars.

- ✓ Exclusion
- ✓ Enhanced due diligence
- ✓ ESG factsheet
- ✓ Active ownership

Article 8

Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR)

The product promotes environmental and social characteristics by directing its capital towards companies and issuers that meet defined ESG (environmental, social and governance) criteria. This is achieved through compliance with international norms and conventions, by taking into account negative impacts on sustainable development (PAI) and through product- or activity-based exclusions. See the prospectus for more information on the products sustainability characteristics.
